

poetry
Untitled

under the smile on his face lay deep emotions, they mystify him, although he laughs his way though life, tears well up behind his eyes, turning his emotions into a blending machine, and leaving his feelings-untitled